I think that makes sense. I'll have to think about how to convey #4.

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

I have my RTP mgmt. call now. I'll be working on this later this morning.

John,
Here are my thoughts:

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

Make sense?

The Wheeler briefing hasn't been scheduled yet but the request went in yesterday via Megan Christian.

It shouldn't be hard to cut back the slides... I'm just not sure what his questions/priorities will be. Maybe move much of it to Supplemental slides and have just 3-4 slides with key observations, schedule, issues etc.

I'm taking leave this afternoon and working all day tomorrow and most of Friday.

Personal Matters / Ex. 6

Hope the EC meeting is going well. You have my sympathies. Everyone ones to know when we'll hear about the reorganization and many noted that the IOAA All hands was when this was expected.

Hi John,
Let me take a look at this after my meeting and get back to you. Do we know when the briefing will be? Andrew is also very very sharp – and like David, keyed in to his priorities and will ask questions. So, really few core slides, but back-ups on hand.

Thanks,

Importance: High

Tina,

The Administrators briefing will be scheduled for 30 minutes.

I don't know if Wheeler is a visual learner... I included key forest plots and bullets, but this may be too much. I haven't been in any meetings with him so your experience with him will be very helpful.

For David Dunlap I hit the highlights and didn't read through all the sub-bullets, and assume something like that would be ok. But, the subbullets could be reduced or eliminated.

These slides stick to the context and content of the ISA, not the noise around it related to OAR input at the end, and the CASAC review.

I'm very interested in your thoughts. Thanks,

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

John
